Public Space Art and Design Contest in Differdange (Luxembourg)

We invite creatives to submit proposals to redesign public space in Differdange (Luxembourg).

The basic concept of this project is co-creation with the community, that's why participants are asked to propose specific creative ideas involving citizens to be realized in 2022 - the year of the European Capital of Culture in Luxembourg. The aim is to create a collaborative approach blending art, technology, and materials to design appealing community places.

You can submit proposals for up to five preselected locations, these include: two city squares, the front yard of an industrial heritage building, a historic city washhouse, and a park. Selected creatives will be invited to Luxembourg for a minimum of three days to implement their projects, and you'll receive a travel stipend for your trip.

The citizens of Differdange will select the winners of this call, so make your proposal count! They want to understand what your creative vision is and how you will involve them. Each of the five locations will have up to three winners. The first prize is 1200 Euro, and this winner will normally be realizing their creative project. The second and third prize will receive 600 Euro each for their submission. In addition, you will also receive up to 15 000 Euro for the material and realization of your project.

Your creative proposal should include visualizations of the project and describe the collaborative process, meaning how you plan to include citizens in your work (e.g. co-creation, workshops, etc.). Each project should result in functional art that will be showcased during the Esch2022 European Capital of Culture.

The call deadline is 19 September 2021, so apply today!

About DiffMix

This initiative is part of DiffMix, a cultural project within the broader context of Esch2022. DiffMix strives to use artistic interventions in the public space, thus transforming them into community spaces with the participation of the residents. “Diff” is for “Difference” and for “Diffusion” of space, art and people, and “Mix” is for the mixture of the needs of the inhabitants with the possibilities of art creations.
